Why?
Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?
The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include: Social Security number and income, account balances and payment history, credit scores and checking account information. When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

How?
All financial companies need to share members’ personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their members’ personal information, the reasons Family First chooses to share, and whether you can limit this sharing.

Who We Are

Who is providing this notice?
Family First of NY Federal Credit Union

What We Do

How does Family First protect my personal information?
To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings. Family First protects your information by restricting access to only those who have a specific business reason to use your data. We maintain physical, electronic and procedural safeguards to protect your information.

How does Family First collect my personal information?
We collect your personal information, for example, when you open an account, use your credit or debit card, apply for a loan, give us your employment history, or make deposits or withdrawals from your account. Family First also collects your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?
Federal law gives you the right to limit only: sharing for affiliates’ everyday business purposes - information about your creditworthiness; affiliates from using your information to market to you; and sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you.

Definitions

Affiliates
